A NEW MERCHANDISER ERA

WARTIME SUCCESS

The wartime success enjoyed by merchandising machine men thruout the country is bringing about the possibility of a great new automatic merchandising era after V-Day. For years many have claimed that the true purpose of the coin controlled mechanism was to eventually produce automatic merchandising equipment which would prove more efficient, more outstanding as far as display value was concerned, more compatible to national advertising and assuredly more economical as regards reaching the buyer.

NATIONAL MFRS. STUDY FIELD

Many outstanding manufacturers of nationally advertised and recognized products, who believe their items fitted for automatic merchandising, are beginning to seriously study this field with the thought of taking advantage of coin operated machines to better sell their merchandise.

GREAT FAITH IN FUTURE

The coinman, who during this wartime period, devoted himself to certain divisions, of the merchandiser field, has developed great belief and even greater faith in the future of this division of the industry. There are music and amusement machine men who also operate beverage dispensers, cigarette machines, candy vendors and other merchandising equipment, and who are now most thoroly sold on this business for post-war.

READY FOR BOOM

It now seems assured that the entire automatic merchandising field is ready for its biggest boom period. For many years this division of the industry has lagged behind the amusement and music fields. Music jumped far ahead - and also took with it a great many coinmen who were formerly engaged in the merchandiser field. They found music more to their liking and more profitable.

RETURN TO FIELD

Amusement devices of all types also lured many from the merchandiser ranks with the larger profits for which this division of the field is known. Now, it seems, many of these men, and a great many others who were never before in automatic merchandising, have suddenly veered back to merchandisers and are seeking for post-war equipment which will make it profitable for them to enter into and continue on ahead in this division.

THE BEVERAGE DISPENSERS

There is no doubt that most outstanding of all the present known automatic merchandising equipment and offering great, future promise - is the beverage dispenser. More and still more coinmen have suddenly come to the realization that beverage dispensing units can bring big and steady profits.

MACY'S INSTALLATION

The installation of beverage dispensers in Macy's huge department store in New York City brought many coinmen there as visitors. What they have seen happen there and what they see happening on other, and not so outstanding locations thruout the country, as well as what they hear from those men already engaged in the beverage vending field, has brought about tremendous interest in beverage vendors. There is therefore no doubt that this field will find itself one of the most booming in the post-war period.

NEW BEVERAGE VENDOR MFRS.

It is also well known to the trade that many manufacturers intend to enter into the beverage vender field. Those who were in it prior to the war are anxious to get back into it once again. Many others have since been reported to be silently working on new models.

GRAND FOR POST-WAR

The success being enjoyed with beverage dispensers in army camps and war plants thruout the nation, as well as in many other types of locations, has assured those who want to enter into this field, that this is one of the grandest divisions of the industry for post-war cultivation.

"The Coin Machines Merry-Go-Round"

SURFACE UNSCRATCHED

And the beauty of this field is the fact that its surface hasn't as yet been even scratched. Therefore all the way from the manufacture to the actual operation of beverage dispensing units, there is sure to be one of the biggest developments the post-war era can bring about.

NEW CIGARETTE & CANDY VENDORS

Cigarette and candy vendor manufacturers also look to big, new operations with machines of outstanding merit, outshining anything ever before manufactured. The cigarette and candy vendor field has developed slowly. It has proven itself a staple and solid business.

ELECTRICAL UNITS

Many look to electrical units in this field. They believe that tho some of these were presented in rather crude models in the pre-war era, that some manufacturers will perfect electrical vender operation.

MULTIPLE MERCHANDISERS

There is also a demand for large, multiple merchandisers. Just as the cigarette machine operator found it profitable to attach gum and cigar venders to his cigarette machines, which actually created a multiple vending unit, the belief among men who know the merchandising machine field is that multiple merchandising as a single unit will prove profitable.

PAST PROVED PROFITABLE

The average cigarette machine operator attached gum and cigar and other vendors to his machines with the thought that these would help pay for his servicing overhead in the location and would therefore allow him to enjoy greater profit from his cigarette selling business. Many of these operators learned, to their surprise, that not only were they able to pay their servicing overhead, but that these machines also paid for themselves and at the same time showed a good profit.

MANY ADVANTAGES

Multiple merchandising therefore presents a great many advantages. As yet there has not been a multiple merchandiser presented which could withstand the rigors of actual location operation. There were a great many fascinating models of large, multiple vendors shown to the trade from time to time, but for one reason or another, they never did appear on the market.

EARLY HISTORY

Back in 1926, 1927 and 1928 "Camco" (Consolidated Automatic Merchandising Corp., New York) which featured President Franklin Delano Roosevelt on its Board of Directors and was the first vending machine organization to appear on the big board of the Stock Exchange, introduced a unique vending machine which said, "Thank you", after each purchase. (The recording unit was developed by The Edison Laboratories and installed in each machine).

CREATED SENSATION

For a time this created a tremendous sensation and gave promise of opening an entirely new era in the automatic merchandising field. But because it proved impracticable, and also because it gave much mechanical trouble. it eventually faded from the market.

GROCERY & COFFEE UNITS

Multiple vending units appeared from time to time. B. L. Fry of Standard Automatic Merchandising Corp., New York, brought forth a large grocery products vending machine and also introduced a circular type coffee dispenser. These created some comment in the press of the nation. It was believed for a while that these units might develop into another series of automatic restaurants.

TURN TO JOBBERS

When coinman showed little enthusiasm for venders and even for the usual line of cigarette, candy and beverage dispensers, the manufacturers and their salesmen, in the earlier pre-war days, turned to candy and tobacco jobbers and bottlers and were successful in selling machines to these people. Since then the bottlers of beverages in many of even the smallest towns have shown great interest in beverage venders and are eagerly looking forward to the post-war era when they will be able to purchase these machines, for these tie in so well with their present business.

APARTMENT VENDING

For years visionairies in this industry have from time to time called attention to the fact that the large apartment house lobbies in urban centers are a natural for complete coin operated stores. They have explained time and again why these would prove exceptionally profitable. Some even made a few crude installations. A few years prior to the war there was a move started to build venders right into new apartment house lobby walls which would match with the furnishings. But the war halted this development from being realized.

NATIONALLY ADVERTISED PRODUCTS NEED VENDORS

As The Cash Box has written before, leading manufacturers of products that are nationally advertised realize that the vending machine is a natural for them. In the first place the average retailer did not give such manufacturers the type of cooperation desired. This was understandable. The profit margin was never as attractive in a nationally advertised item as in local, and especially private label brands.

GET ATTENTION

Therefore the manufacturer sought for some means to get the public's attention to his product regardless of the lack of cooperation from the retailer - and in addition to his advertising. Some even went as far as eliminating wholesalers and serving retailers directly in an effort to cultivate better cooperation.

BETTER DISPLAY

Such manufacturers realize now that they would have received much better display value, finer sales attraction to their product, and would have still been able to pay the retailer just as much profit, if they could have featured their items in a merchandiser right on the retailer's premises.

BETTER LOCATED

Furthermore, with automatic vendors they could have also arranged to get them placed in apartment house lobbies, on the outside of prominent stores, so that when their expensive evening radio programs were on the air they could have suggested to the listener to "go right downstairs and buy from our vending machines". Whereas in the past they have always had to depend upon the public remembering about their products a day or even many more after the broadcast.

BEST FROM ALL SALES VIEWPOINTS

In short, from every sales viewpoint, from all merchandising practise, the automatic vending machine is what the manufacturer of a nationally advertised and recognized product needs to get sales he must have to continue on successfully.

OPS HARD TO CONVINCE

It took many years to convince the first operators who dared enter into the cigarette vending field that this could be a profitable business in its own right. The early arguments always were, "Every store I go into already sells cigarettes". The manufacturer and his salesmen had to overcome this with facts showing that the average lunch wagon or other store lost money on the two or three cartons they purchased and that the proprietor of the place did not want to invest his money in "accommodation merchandise" and find this was selling at a loss. Even employee thieving was used as an argument.

SHOWED NEW LOCATIONS

Later, when these spots were covered, manufacturers of cigarette machines and their salesmen were forced to show operators that other locations, like gasoline stations, etc., were also profitable. Operators tried these out with the oldest equipment they had. Today, many an operator admits that these, like gasoline stations, are among his most profitable spots. So it goes down the entire line of the merchandiser industry. It has always been a hard fight for this business to convince the average coinman that he could earn profit from it.

OTHER MACHINES WIN ATTENTION

In addition the coinman was dazzled by the profits being made from the rapid growth of the pinball machine, one-balls, consoles, etc. Then when music machines entered the field and began to mushroom up the ladder - this also pulled his attention away from the merchandisers.

INDUSTRY AWAKENS

Now, World War II has suddenly brought these units into the limelight. Even those coinmen who had very, very little to do with merchandisers have heard of the grand success which these machines have enjoyed in war plants, army camps and other locations thruout the country. The industry seems to have once again awakened to the fact that the automatic merchandiser is destined for a grand boom after the war and that it might pay to enter into this field.

NEW ROUTES

Many have been surprised, in looking about their territories, to suddenly learn that coinmen whom they considered in other fields have gradually entered into the automatic merchandising machines business. They now find cigarette machine routes belonging to men whom they formerly thought were engaged in an entirely different division of the industry.

DEMAND CONTINUES

A demand for beverage dispensers keeps coming to them from many of their locations and these retailers tell them about such machines earning good profits for some competitor. They get calls from factories and other locations for merchandisers regularly.

WHAT POST-WAR PERIOD HOLDS

The fever is growing and the field is therefore becoming eager to see what the post-war period will bring about that will, at long last, zoom the automatic merchandising division of this industry to a much more prominent position.

U. S. NAVY SCHOOLS NEED GAMES

NAVAL TRAINING SCHOOLS OF CHICAGO NEED GAMES AND PHONOS TO HELP ENTERTAIN AND RELAX NAVY RADIO STUDENTS

CHICAGO — All coinmen are called upon at this time to help bring entertainment and relaxation to the men in the six Naval Training Schools in the Chicago area. These are a part of the vast training program which prepares Radio Technicians for service with the fleet and with the submarine and flying Navy.

Tho these men are located in the very heart of Chicago's famous "loop" district, they do not have the time to enjoy the many pleasures about them, strange as this may seem to the average civilian.

Classes are conducted in these schools from 7:15 A.M. until 9:00 P.M. The boys in training only have a few minutes after meals and during the evening to relax in the basement recreation room of their barracks located at 65 West Lake Street in Chicago.

There is no doubt that any coinman who has a son or daughter in the service realizes what an intense program this is to get these men trained as rapidly as possible for service with the fleet. They must also realize what it means to these youngsters to get even a few moments of relaxation.

At the present time, these Naval students haven't the equipment with which to entertain themselves, even tho they now have built a recreation room in the basement of one of the loop's large buildings.

SHIP YOUR GAMES AND PHONOGRAPH DONATIONS DIRECT TO

COMMANDER W. C. EDDY
U.S. Naval Training Schools
65 West Lake Street
Chicago 1, Ill.

RIGHT NOW

Commander Wm. C. Eddy, who is in charge of the Naval Training Schools, and whom many will remember as the Naval officer who spoke before the Second Wartime Conference in Chicago telling those present how many important discoveries in games and vendors of this industry were immediately taken up by the Navy, will be the recipient of all the games and phonos the men in this industry will donate.

This is something that every coinman should instantly plunge into. There are always one or two old games about the average coinman's headquarters which are not being used and which would bring an unlimited amount of pleasure to these Navy youngsters.

There are always some old 10 and 12 record phonos that can be rapidly repaired, some records included, and shipped to Commander Eddy.

Surely there are some of the old pin games and some of the older model guns and other amusement games about that the average coinman can send to these boys.

It is well to remember that these are the kids, many of whom may be from your own home town, who are going out there to bring back peace to this nation and all the other nations of the earth.

They have an intensive and difficult course in front of them. They need every bit of relaxation they can obtain. Your donation of even one pin game means a great deal to these boys in Navy blue.

NAM APPOINTS TAX COMMITTEE

NEW YORK — Interesting to all coinmen who seek the creation of a National Tax Council is the announcement by the National Association of Manufacturers that they have appointed a taxation committee. This committee is headed by Harry E. Humphreys, Jr., chairman of the finance committee of U. S. Rubber Co.

WHAT ABOUT PRODUCTION?

NEW YORK — Rather than once again enter into a long discussion as to why there will not be any manufacture of coin operated equipment for sometime to come, The Cash Box believes that reproduction of this headline from the "Business Page" of The New York Times (Aug. 16) will speak many thousands of words.

Over a dozen copies of this clipping were received by The Cash Box from coinmen in this area, some with letters stating that the stand taken by this publication on the fact that there would not be any coin machines production until this war was won was extremely commendable and that this item, referring to essential civilian manufacturers, was more than ever proof of this fact.

More than 300 manufacturers who yesterday approached the regional and district offices of the War Production Board on how they could return to the production of civilian items found that there will be little conversion to such output until the manpower situation eases considerably. At the same time the manufacturers found the regional office without the forms necessary for applicants to file for permission to participate in the program and without instruction on how to process such application.

ED. BROWN WRITES LOCATIONS GOOD WILL LETTER

DALLAS, TEX. — Ed. Brown, owner of the Dallas Cigarette Service, this city, who has made it a practise to keep good will with locations by writing to them regularly has just again sent out a letter to his spots which should win the comment of all coinmen and a letter which can be followed by others thruout the country.

In this letter, tho Ed does not operate anything but cigarette machines, he plays up pins and music machines.

This letter, entitled, "Cigarette Shortage" follows:

"The cigarette shortage continues to grow worse and will probably be with us until after Christmas. No one can foresee when it will be over. There are probably 400 cigarette machines standing empty in Dallas today.

"The Dallas Cigarette SERVICE, as it now stands, probably has more cigarettes per machine than many other suppliers. This is in line with the careful planning and wholehearted enthusiasm the company puts into its work.

"It is a genuine pleasure to all of us to operate cigarette vendors. We love our machines, our locations, and our customers. We appreciate every single package you and the smokers buy from us, even though there are not nearly enough packages to go around.

"Unusual care is being used in delivering to each machine its quota of cigarettes and your quota of cigarettes can be made into a valuable asset to you. Why not stretch it as far as possible — limiting sales to one package at a time.

"Your machine will pay you handsome dividends by drawing customers to your establishment who will make other purchases — play the pin games, the music system — help keep sales and profits up.

"Yours sincerely,
ED BROWN,
Operator of Merchandise Vendors Only.'

CASNOFF WANTS RECOGNITION BUREAU

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Ed. Casnoff, General Coin Machine Co., this city, writes the following regard to a jobber-distributor recognition bureau.

"Just finished reading your item on jobber-distrib recognition bureau and as a jobber, I thoroly agree with you.

"If factories would location test machines before release there would not be any flops, with such disastrous consequences to the jobber.

"Distribs should stick to their own territory. Not try to sell ops first, to make a few extra bucks, or show favoritism to some jobbers.

"If a number is a winner we are forced to go elsewhere to purchase because our distrib gives us none. But he sure wants to load us up when he has a lemon."

BUSINESS INDEX OF THE WEEK

A 1944 Copyrighted Feature of: The Cash Box, 381 Fourth Avenue, New York (16)

The collections trend again continues downward this week. An average of about 12% can be set for the entire nation, covering all types of equipment, ranging from amusement to service machines.

But, this past week also indicates the first faint glimmers of collections again coming upward. Certain areas which reported heavy drops in collections are now starting to report certain equipment creeping up the ladder. The midwest seems to be lower down on the scale than the east, far west, south and southwest. In such states as Michigan heaviest collection losses, on an average, are reported. These are attributed to the fact that beverages are becoming ever harder to obtain in this area.

A definite upward swing is noted in the mountain states, the far west and the deep south, with some points reporting ups as good as 25% in music and amusement this past week. The drops in merchandising machines are attributed to lack of cigarettes and the fact that these becoming ever harder to obtain daily.

Also surprising this past week were reports that certain service machines, such as scales, photo machines, etc., have suddenly shown a drop. These have been holding their own pretty well for some weeks now.

This average drop of about 12% can be stated to actually be a recovery from the heavier downward trend of the past weeks. Much recovery is attributed to colder climate thruout the nation.
